IN A NUTSHELL

After a decade in the fitness industry, my transition into tech is an exciting leap from the corporal to the cerebral. As a recent bootcamp grad I'm excited to flex (pun intended!) my new tech skills and pick up new ones while still maintaining the same energy and vibrancy that made me successful in fitness.

PET PROJECT

DeskFit X Pomodoro

A Pomodoro productivity timer with a twist -- exercises to do on your desk breaks. I've big plans to develop this one even better. <http://deskfit.edithwerbel.com/app.html>

CAREER THUS FAR

Fitness professional

2009 TO 2019

For a decade I've been focused on improving the lives of others as a personal trainer, online workout video host and fitness model. Through it I developed the following qualities:

- Entrepreneurship, marketing & customer service. I fostered a loyal following, developed my own digital products to sell on my website - which I also built myself. (I also built my work gym's website with integrated booking system.)
- People skills and communication. You have to be a people person to work with folks through their most vulnerable to triumphant moments.
